BETTER TRANSPORTATION, DEMANDS GLENDALE

SHOOT RICH STOCKMAN IN TRAIN HOLD UP

Two Unmasked Bandits in Robbery of Freight on Glendale Outskirts

ONE of the boldest freight train hold-ups in recent crime history was staged about 8:15 o'clock last night at Doran street and San Fernando road by two unmasked bandits who are still at large.

As a result, John J. Healy, wealthy Reno stockman, is a patient at the Glendale Sanitarium and Hospital with a bullet wound through his left leg which is not regarded as serious. This morning he was able to give a succinct account of the episode.

The Southern Pacific freight train, which was bound for Los Angeles, was entering Glendale when two young, slender, unmasked bandits, both under 25 years of age, came to the front door of the caboose and "covered" with their guns Brakeman George W. Foley, Conductor Carl Jackson and John J. Healy, a passenger.

They Start Shooting

Mr. Healy, who was sitting in the cupola, is reported to have made an attempt to crawl through a window to the roof of the caboose. As soon as this action was perceived by the bandits, they started shooting. An attempt was made also to club Conductor Jackson with the butt of a revolver.

All three victims of the holdup were robbed of their watches and cash. A suitcase belonging to Mr. Healy was taken, also.

Having completed their work, the two "strangers" jumped off the train, which had now come to a stop. They were seen to enter a Ford coupe and are believed to have gone around by Aviation drive to Los Angeles.

The Glendale police department was notified as soon as a telephone call could be reached, and Col. J. D. Fraser, chief of police; Lieut. Joe Griffin and Sergeant A. Kerns were on the scene in less than ten minutes. The Los Angeles police department, the sheriff's office and the Southern Pacific railroad detectives' headquarters in Los Angeles were notified, also, and within a short time fifty men were on the job, searching Griffith park and vicinity.

Find Suitcase

Motive for the pre-arranged crime is believed by detectives to rest upon the knowledge that Mr. Healy, who was accompanying seven cars of cattle to the Los Angeles market, might carry a considerable sum of money with him. He stated that there was no cash in his stolen suitcase.

About 8:30 this morning this suitcase was found by A. F. Pease of 125 South Douglas street, Eagle Rock, and James Crawford of 1365 East Colorado street, two employees of the Glendale street department, who happened to be on Aviation drive, Griffith park. It had been thoroughly ransacked.

Foil Revenue Agents, Land Big Booze Cargo

SAN FRANCISCO, March 6.—Eluding revenue cutters which for days have been patrolling the heads, and dry agents who have been watching the coast line, a two-masted auxiliary schooner from Vancouver slipped into the bay early today and succeeded in landing its rich rum cargo of 1000 cases of imported whisky valued at $100,000.

A fleet of auto trucks were waiting at Laguna cove as the schooner slipped in the Golden Gate and hove to close by the army transport docks. Word reached the dry agents too late, but they found evidence of the "landing party" on their arrival at the docks.

Two Vessels Aground As Result of Fog

PENSACOLA, Fla., March 6.—The U. S. S. Langley, a plane carrier, and the steamship Labette, from New York, today went aground in the bay here, both having run into soft mud, during a heavy fog. Tugs are standing by each vessel, hoping to float them at flood tide today.

Business Block to Cost $50,000 Will Soon Be Started

PLANS for a $50,000 two-story brick business structure at 201 East Broadway are now being made by May & Hellman, contractors, of 123 North Maryland avenue, and it is probable that ground can be broken by the first of April.

Owners of this improvement to the business district will be H. S. Burn of 735 217 North Orange street and F. W. McClesell of 610 North Jackson street.

The building will have a frontage of 50 feet on Broadway and 133 feet on Maryland avenue. It will have attractive display windows.

The exterior of the building probably will be of brick and terra cotta. Mr. Burn stated that the exact division of the first floor and full basement has not yet been arranged, owing to the fact that negotiations are under way with several desirable tenants.

The second floor will be divided into twelve single apartments.

The service station of J. L. Grose, which occupies this site, has been moved across the street to 105 North Maryland avenue.

"This building will cover the entire lot," remarked Mr. Burn. "It will be one of the nicest buildings in Glendale."

MAKE INSPECTION OF CITY'S PARKS

Commission to Ask Data From Council on Cost of Maintenance

The Glendale park commission yesterday afternoon made a survey of the city's parks. Starting from the office of Dr. Jessie A. Russell, 208 South Brand boulevard, at about 3:30 o'clock in the afternoon, the members proceeded by motor truck upon their inspection tour.

As a result of this survey it was decided to request from the City Council an itemized statement of expenditures to date on each city park, together with the balances remaining in the various park funds.

It was also decided to request information as to the area of each park, and the purchase price thereof.

It was furthermore decided to request that the City Council place all trees in parkways, throughout the city, under the jurisdiction of the park commission.

The question of adequate lighting for Patterson Avenue park was brought up.

L. H. Wilson was the only member of the park commission unable to be present on yesterday's survey, being in San Francisco on business. Those who made the tour were President L. T. Rowley, Dr. Jessie A. Russell, V. M. Hollister and Rev. C. M. Calderwood.

Bulgarians, Serbians Clash; Thirty Killed

ATHENS, March 6.—Severe fighting, in which thirty have been killed, has broken out between Bulgarians and Serbians in Macedonia. According to military dispatches received here today, twenty-seven Bulgarian irregulars and three Serbians were killed in one engagement. The fighting is being conducted by irregulars, not by regular army forces.

BRITAIN TO CONTROL

LONDON, March 6.—Great Britain will retain control of the railways in the British zone of military occupation on the Rhine. Ronald MacNeill announced in the house of commons this afternoon. He said the question of French transportation through the British zone had not yet been settled definitely.

Uncle John Says:

Mary was just sayin' she was glad to see the tenth anniversary paper of The Glendale Evening News so well patronized by advertisers. She says the advertisers seem to be published by and for Glendale people. She says when the merchants advertise in The Glendale Evening News they ain't payin' their money to help distribute the advertiser's of their big city competitors in Glendale homes.

PLEADS FOR MEDIATION OVER RUHR INVASION

House of Commons Hears Motion From Laborite Leader for Action

LONDON, March 6.—Formal motion for mediation in the Ruhr was made in the House of Commons this afternoon by Ramsay MacDonald, laborite chief and leader of the opposition on the floor.

"France," declared MacDonald, "is re-writing the Versailles treaty without the consent of the allies. Military and political balances are changing. The danger of another war looms up."

MacDonald moved that the French and Belgian chambers of deputies be invited to co-operate with the British parliament to settle the Ruhr issue between France and Germany.

Britain Seeking Peace

This movement was regarded with more significance in view of the reports from Berlin that Chancellor Cuno would make a definite reparations offer to France in the Reichstag this evening.

Stanley Baldwin declared in a speech this afternoon that Great Britain is seeking peace.

"There can be no complete resumption of trade until Europe unilaterally settles the questions of debts and reparations," said Chancellor Baldwin.

Must Evacuate First

BERLIN, March 6.—Germany will not open negotiations with France for a settlement of the Ruhr problem until that district is evacuated by the French and Belgian armies, Chancellor Wilhelm Cuno announced this afternoon in a special session of the Reichstag.

Chancellor Cuno virtually invited intervention in the Ruhr by an outside power.

"We would not refuse intervention by a third power," said the chancellor.

Negotiate as Equal

It was generally believed that he was referring to the United States.

The chancellor continued: "Germany is ready to negotiate, but we must negotiate as an equal. Evacuation of the Ruhr by the armies of occupation is necessary before the negotiations can begin."

Will H. Hays Denies He Will Be Producer

LOS ANGELES, March 6.—Reports that Will H. Hays, president of the motion picture producers and exhibitors of America, and more frequently referred to as "boss of the films," would become a producer upon the expiration of his term in office, were denied today in a telegram to a local newspaper from Mr. Hays, who is in New York. Mr. Hays' statement reads:

"I have given no thought whatever as to what I will do when I have completed my task as president of the Motion Picture Producers & Exhibitors of America, except my purpose actively to engage again in my profession. I have no idea whatever of producing pictures myself and have no plans to that end."

Shrieks From Parrot Turns in Fire Alarm

LOS ANGELES, March 6.—Shrieking cries from a parrot early today resulted in the discovery of a fire which threatened to destroy two downtown hotels. Cries of "poll wants a cracker!" were heard from a parrot in the lobby of the Mikado hotel in East First street and attracted the attention of William Ache, a cook, who saw flames shooting from a restaurant next door to the hotel. Ache turned in the fire alarm and warned guests in the Mikado hotel as well as those in the Union hotel, which was nearby.

Follow Up New Clew To 'Hammer Slayer'

SAN FRANCISCO, March 6.—Deputy Sheriff Frank Dewar arrived here today from Los Angeles to follow a new clew which may divulge the present whereabouts of Clara Phillips, "hammer slayer," who saved her way out of the Los Angeles county jail and escaped.

Dewar expects to question one person in particular in this vicinity, who is believed not only to know where Mrs. Phillips is hiding, but also to have been in recent communication with her.

Two Men Fall Eight Stories; Scaffold Rope Cut, Belief of Police

LOS ANGELES, March 6.—An arrest loomed today when police reported that an investigation of the accident at Fifth and Broadway last night when two men, who were washing windows, fell eight stories when the rope of their scaffold broke, revealed the rope apparently had been cut. The accident happened when hundreds of pedestrians crowded the sidewalks below.

One of the men, Browney Brosky, may not recover. He is reported to have sustained a fractured skull. The other man, Elmer Goss, was unhurt, he having fallen on an awning and walked away from the accident. Goss declared to the police that the rope used on the scaffold was new a week ago and that he suspects a man with whom he had worked recently of tampering with it.

HUSBANDS' NIGHT AT TUESDAY CLUB

Officers Meet to Outline Plans for Opening of New Structure

Tuesday Afternoon Club officers meeting yesterday afternoon at the home of Mrs. M. E. Plasterer at 409 North Kenwood street, formulated final plans for the formal opening of the club's new home Tuesday night, March 13.

It will be the annual "Husbands' Night" and the meeting will be open to club members and escorts only.

Preceding the entertainment, the building will be formally presented. Alfred Priest, the architect, will present the building to Mrs. C. E. Hutchinson, chairman of the building committee.

Mrs. Hutchinson will then present the building to Mrs. Daniel Campbell, club president.

The evening's program will be featured by a dramatic sketch, "The Women of History," given by members of the Drama and Music sections.

Coming Conventions

At the board meeting yesterday the coming conventions were discussed. The district convention is to be held April 2, 3 and 4 at San Luis Obispo. Mrs. Daniel Campbell will represent the Tuesday Afternoon Club. At the convention Mrs. Charles H. Toll is to be presented as a candidate for the district presidency.

The state convention is to be held some time in May at Eureka.

The Tuesday Afternoon Club executive board has decided to purchase something for the wishing of the club house, to be a gift from the official board. As yet they have not decided what this gift will be.

Mrs. Reid to Continue Plan for Sanitarium

LOS ANGELES, March 6.—Despite the fact that close relatives were reported from the east to bitterly oppose the plan of Mrs. Wallace Reid, known in public as Dorothy Davenport, to establish a memorial sanitarium for her famous actor-husband, Wallace Reid, who died here recently from a direct result of the use of narcotics, Mrs. Reid let it be known today she was going ahead with plans for the sanitarium, regardless of the opposition.

Word received from Chicago stated that John Westbrock and two of his sisters, all members of Reid's mother's family, had received a letter from the actor's mother, Mrs. Bertha Reid, in New York, opposing the action of Miss Davenport.

'Infamous and False,' Solon Calls Charges

WASHINGTON, March 6.—Earle B. Mayfield, senator-elect from Texas, issued a formal statement in reply to the election contest filed against him by George E. B. Peddy, the defeated candidate.

Mayfield said Peddy's charges were "infamous and absolutely false" and a "conscious effort" at a campaign of misrepresentation and abuse.

Counter Revolution Under Way in Greece

Cannon and machine guns were said to have been mounted at strategic points in Athens.

FRENCH ADVANCE

BERLIN, March 6.—French troops today advanced northeast of the Mayence bridgehead, occupying the towns of Kronberg and Ramscheid, said a dispatch from Wurzberg.

GASOLINE TO SOON COST 25 CENTS, REPORT

Executive Committee of Oil Men in Prediction; Deny Price Is to Be $1

CHICAGO, March 6.—A prediction that within a few months gasoline would cost 25 cents a gallon was made here today by J. M. Carson, of the executive committee of the American Oil Men's association in convention here.

In denying that it would be exorbitant, Carson said Europeans were "glad" to pay 60 cents. Delegates belittled the La Follette forecast of $1 gasoline.

Carson explained the advance he anticipates by saying the demand was growing from 15 to 25 per cent a year while the supply of crude oil was diminishing. The oil dealers are planning an investigation bureau to "combat anti-oil propaganda prejudicing the public mind."

Regarding Senator La Follette, Carson said:

"He, who has probably never set his foot outside the United States, knows little of European conditions, but he does like the plaudits of the home folks."

Politics, Is Answer

NEW YORK, March 6.—Declaring the government committee investigating the price of gasoline "simply reached up in the air and brought down a figure," W. C. Teagle, president of the Standard Oil Company of New Jersey, today denied there was any likelihood of gasoline prices reaching $1 per gallon mark in the near future.

"Gasoline is no more likely to reach a price of $1 a gallon than it is $10," Teagle said.

Teagle asserted that the La Follette report was inspired by politics.

Seek Sixth Suspect In Gun Fight When 'Old Tom' Is Killed

LOS ANGELES, March 6.—With five men under arrest as accomplices of "Old Tom" Garwood, "master mind" in the Los Angeles underworld, who was shot and killed early yesterday in a gun battle with Santa Monica police, efforts were being made today to find a man with a bullet wound in the left arm, who was seen coming to Los Angeles from Santa Monica soon after the battle.

It is believed the man was Garwood's confederate and the man who wounded Officer W. E. Cordes of the Santa Monica police. Interest was added to the hunt for the missing man when it was learned that he was seen in Los Angeles yesterday at Sixteenth and Magnolia streets, where he left an electric car from the beach city.

The five men under arrest are said to have been "pals" of the dead man, but it is not known whether or not they aided Garwood in the robbery of the Crescent Creamery company at Santa Monica, which preceded the gun battle that ended in Garwood's death.

Attorney Mattison B. Jones,

chief counsel for the Glendale Motor Bus company, presided, and in his opening remarks he emphatically denied the assertion that has been made in certain quarters in Glendale that the motor transportation system that is planned by the Glendale Motor Bus company is to be turned over to the Pacific Electric company as soon as the preliminary work has been done and the system has been placed on a running basis.

This statement was characterized by Mr. Jones as propaganda that does not contain one iota of truth, and other speakers during the evening also took occasion to deny the allegation that any such arrangement had been made with the Pacific Electric.

Referring to the growth in population during the past three years, when the 1920 census showed that Glendale had a population of a little over 15,000, down to the present, when a conservative estimate places the number of residents of this city at 32,000, or an increase of 150 per cent in three years, Mr. Jones asserted that the Pacific Electric had not increased its facilities to keep pace with the city's growth.

With the result that the line between here and Los Angeles is inadequate to render proper service, and this poor service on the part of the railway is one of the factors that is acting to retard materially the growth of Glendale and the commercial development of the city.

Many people, Mr. Jones stated, who have been dissatisfied with the service rendered by the Pacific Electric, have turned to the automobile as a means of transportation between their homes and their work, and this has convinced them that the automobile offers the logical means of transportation and that the development of a comprehensive system of motor

Radke Named to Attend Hearing on Bus Lines

Ed N. Radke, 109 South Brand was appointed as a representative of the Glendale Credit association to attend the hearing before the State Railroad Commission today on the application of the Glendale Motor Bus company for permits to run bus lines into Los Angeles from Glendale and to testify before the commission regarding the need of a more efficient system of transportation between the two cities. This action was taken yesterday at the regular weekly luncheon of the Glendale Credit association when the motor bus question was discussed from all angles.

A number of applications for membership in the association were considered by the members present and will be acted upon shortly.

Wins $38.47 Judgment In Suit for Back Rent

W. S. Simmons of 317 North Geneva street this morning received judgment against Paul Thilo of Los Angeles for $38.47, which includes court costs. The case concerns the non-payment of December rent by Mr. Thilo for the house at 103 West Feltz Road belonging to Mr. Simmons. An argument resulted as to who should pay the cost of some improvements made by Mr. Thilo.

"We propose to investigate this matter very carefully," said Mayor Robinson. "We don't propose to have the P. E. rush us." "It's a lot of bunk!" declared Councilman Sam Davis. "I move that the communication be referred to the committee of the whole."

SPEAKERS AT MASS MEETING SAY PACIFIC ELECTRIC SYSTEM DOES NOT MEET CITY'S NEEDS

Citizens Hear Plans Of Local Bus Company and Discuss Ways and Means to Get Adequate Service, Lower Fares

THE need for a more adequate and flexible system of transportation to meet the growing needs of Glendale and to keep pace with the increase in the city's population was stressed by the speakers at the mass meeting that was held at the Glendale Union high school last night to secure the support of Glendale residents to the application for permits to enter Los Angeles that is to be made today before the state railroad commission by C. D. Gulick and his associates who are interested in the development of the Glendale Motor Bus Company and the Pacific Motor Bus Company. All of the speakers alleged that the service rendered by the Pacific Electric system had reached its highest point, a point that falls far short of supplying the needs of Glendale, and they insisted that some improvement must be made in the means of communication between Glendale and Los Angeles if the former city is to maintain its place as a progressive and rapidly growing city.

Attorney Mattison B. Jones, chief counsel for the Glendale Motor Bus company, presided, and in his opening remarks he emphatically denied the assertion that has been made in certain quarters in Glendale that the motor transportation system that is planned by the Glendale Motor Bus company is to be turned over to the Pacific Electric company as soon as the preliminary work has been done and the system has been placed on a running basis.

This statement was characterized by Mr. Jones as propaganda that does not contain one iota of truth, and other speakers during the evening also took occasion to deny the allegation that any such arrangement had been made with the Pacific Electric.

PACIFIC ELECTRIC ASKS FOR PERMIT TO EXTEND BUS LINE

Increase In Service Plan of Railway, So Letter to Council Would Indicate

WHILE citizens of Glendale were holding a mass meeting for Glendale, the City Council was hearing read a communication from the Pacific Electric Land Company, owned by the Pacific Electric Railway Company, in which the company asked permission to increase and extend its bus system here.

However, judging by statements made as the letter was read, the City Council does not look with favor on the Pacific Electric's proposals.

"We propose to investigate this matter very carefully," said Mayor Robinson. "We don't propose to have the P. E. rush us." "It's a lot of bunk!" declared Councilman Sam Davis. "I move that the communication be referred to the committee of the whole."

And so the letter from the railway, given in full herewith, was sent there for further examination. The letter:

"Referring to our local bus service operating in the city of Glendale:

"We desire to make certain extensions and changes in the routing of this line which we believe will be of a material benefit to the City of Glendale as well as providing accommodation to sections of the city now in need of transportation, also providing better service to our present patrons."

"It is our desire to extend this line north on Pacific Avenue to Kenneth Road on the one hand, and east from Broadway and Adams to Verdugo Road on the other. Also to operate all buses to the business center of your City, i. e., Broadway and Brand Boulevard, thereby enabling patrons of the bus line to travel to and from Broadway and Brand Blvd. without having to transfer."

"The operation of this line would be as follows:

"Commencing at Kenneth Road and Pacific Avenue, south on Pacific to Lexington, east on Lexington to Columbus, south on Columbus to Wilson, east on Wilson to Brand, south on Brand to Broadway, thence west on Broadway to Pacific, south on Pacific to San Fernando Road, south on San Fernando Road to Cypress, east on Cypress to Brand, north on Brand to Palmer, east on Palmer to Adams, north on Adams

HEAR NEEDS OF TRANSPORTATION

Glendale Must Have Better Service and Lower Fares, Declare Speakers

communication, not only with Los Angeles, but also with various parts of Glendale itself. All local business men, he declared, are interested in securing better transportation and lower fares, and the Chamber of Commerce has adopted as one of the major planks in its 1923 platform the plan of improving intercity and local communications, to secure a reduction in the present high rates and to break the monopoly that exists here today.

Alex Mitchell dealt with the present status of transportation in Glendale and urged that the plans for a bus system should be given full consideration, as it is impossible to compete with the improved service when one company controls the traffic system of the city. The aim of the Pacific Electric, he declared, is not to give Glendale a better service but to earn dividends for its stockholders, the necessity of earning private profits is the first requisite of any railroad and is the fundamental reason for high rates. Competition for the Pacific Electric must be secured, he added, if Glendale is to have honest and efficient service. Mr. Mitchell related the methods that prevailed on the main railroads of the country years ago and more, when he was a traveling freight and passenger agent on one of the large rail systems, and the same cut-throat methods are still in vogue today, he claimed, in spite of the supposed safeguards that have been thrown around the people by statutes.

Served Purpose Here
Modern transportation as compared with that furnished by the Pacific Electric was the keynote of Charles B. Guthrie's talk, in which he declared that the railway company had never tried to give better transportation, and he scouted the claim which had, he said, frequently been voiced by Pacific Electric officials to the effect that the railway had put Glendale on the map, when all that they had done, he asserted, was to lay one ribbon of track on a street that had been given to them in the first place. He admitted that the Pacific Electric had done much for Glendale, but it has long ago reached and passed the limit of its powers to serve this city, and its present policy, as outlined to him by officials of the company, is to keep down expenses and not to spend any money here except for necessary maintenance. The Pacific Electric, he claimed, has taken out of Glendale over $1,000 for every $1 it has put into the town, and it has served its purpose here. Glendale cannot get anything more out of the Pacific Electric, he said, and the only way that the city can keep pace with its growth is to install bus lines that will not only meet the needs of its people but that will increase property values on every street they traverse.

O. A. Lane, former city trustee, declared that the commuter is not getting adequate service out of the Pacific Electric, and he asserted that the railway has always charged Glendale more than the rates charged on other branches of similar or even greater length, adding that the revenue from the rich Glendale line is used to bolster up the weaker lines of the Pacific Electric system.

No Stock Selling
C. D. Gulick, president of the Glendale Motor Bus Company, reiterated his former statements that the present move to install an efficient motor bus system in Glendale is not a stock selling proposition, and he explained that the Pacific Motor Bus Company has been formed as a manufacturing company to furnish busses for the Glendale Motor Bus Company, and that it will establish its own shops here that will afford work for hundreds of high priced workers who will make their homes in Glendale.

Mr. Gulick asked that as many as possible of the residents of Glendale appear today at the hearing before the state railroad commission in the Pacific Finance building when the application for the company's permits will be presented, in order to furnish oral evidence of the inconvenience that exists today under the present system and to ask that the company be granted permission to run its buses into Los Angeles over the routes specified in the application, as well as to organize a local system that will meet the needs of the people of Glendale. To show that the Glendale Motor Bus Company is not asking something for nothing, Mr. Gulick stated that a share of the gross receipts of the company would be paid to the city of Glendale for the use of the streets.

It was arranged that a number of witnesses should appear before the commission at today's hearing and aid the movement to secure a motor bus system for Glendale, covering the city itself and running into Los Angeles.

saves three ways

It Saves

—your money
—your engine
—your battery

The economy of Associated Gasoline is more noticeable every time you use it. That's because it not only gives "more miles to the gallon," but it saves your motor from the ordinary troubles that you expect as a matter of course.

Associated Gasoline prevents dilution of lubricating oil, because it is all consumed in the combustion chambers.

Associated Gasoline also gives a snappy start in cold motors, saving you the bother of priming and lessening the burden on your battery.

Look for the Associated sign—it is displayed by

Growsome Find Leads To Search for Woman

LOS ANGELES, March 6.—Search for a human head and torso is being made through the desert waste land ten miles north of Desert Center in an effort to clear up the mystery suggested by the finding of leg bones, a mandible and dress in the vicinity of Boulder Wells last week.

In the opinion of officers who are making the search, the bones are those of Mrs. Mandina, a 70-year-old Mexican woman, reported lost December 22, 1922. At the time of the woman's disappearance, police gave credence to the story told by her son-in-law, Cecilio Espanza, that she had wandered from an automobile road camp where a passenger stage had stopped for repairs.

Insane Mexican Attacks Woman in Alleged Fit

LOS ANGELES, March 6.—An alleged insane Mexican, Manuel Suado, ran amuck in the southeastern part of the city and attacked Mrs. W. J. Brown in her home in Santa Fe avenue. Mrs. Brown escaped through a window. Constable Bosshard arrested the Mexican and he was placed in the psychopathic ward of the county hospital.

N. W. Ayer, Head of Ad Agency, Is Dead

PHILADELPHIA, March 6.—N. W. Ayer, of the firm of N. W. Ayer & Sons, one of the largest advertising agencies in the country, died at Ayerment Meridale farm, Meridale, at the age of 75.

CONGRESS QUILTS UNTIL DECEMBER

End of Session Sees Many Senators Planning to Visit Europe

By WM. K. HUTCHINSON
For International News Service
WASHINGTON, March 6.—The troubles of congress were packed in the old kit bag to be laid away until December as an army of legislators began an exodus from the capital following adjournment of the sixty-seventh congress.

Senators, congressmen and their many assistants were headed for seashores, the mountains, the farms, back home, even Europe—anywhere so long as it took them away from Washington—to enjoy the longest congressional vacation in eight years.

There has been in session almost continuously since December, 1920. Fifteen senators and 126 representatives were in the outgoing rush with no prospects of returning to congress until their people back home change the verdict rendered at the polls last November. Their offices were being cleared for incoming legislators who won the November verdict.

Many Visit Europe

The proposed senatorial invasion of Europe also gathered recruits. With Senator Underwood, Democrat, Alabama, already "over there," Senator Hiram Johnson, Republican, of California, closed his desk in preparation for a three months' tour of France, England and Germany. Senator Borah, Republican, of Idaho, who will carry his foreign invasion clear to Russia, was also arranging passports, while Senator Moses, Republican, of New Hampshire, is packing his trunks for a visit to the Near East and Balkan states. A half dozen other senators expected to be Europe-bound before the end of the month.

With the death of congress, scores of important bills were tossed into the congressional wastebasket. These included the administration ship subsidy, and the Dyer anti-lynching bill, killed by filibusters; the McNary reclamation bill, the Dial cotton futures act, and the Norris measure advancing the date of presidential inaugurations and the convening of congress.

REV. SOPER GIVES UP EASTERN TRIP

Ill Health Prevents Him
From Celebration of 50th Anniversary

Rev. Julius Soper of 1305 North Maryland avenue, is announcing with deep regret that, owing to the precarious state of his health, he has given up the trip to Washington and other eastern points that he has been holding in such pleasant anticipation for some time.

This year is the fiftieth anniversary of many interesting events in his life. March 9, 1873, he was ordained minister of the gospel by Bishop R. S. Foster, at Hagerstown, Md., during the session of the Baltimore conference, the oldest conference in American Methodism. May 15, of the same year, he was graduated from Drew Theological Seminary, at Madison, N. Y., and expected to attend commencement there this coming May, as a fitting celebration of the anniversary.

He is also disappointing many old friends of a congregation he was to preach to again from the pulpit where he presided forty years ago. While it is a great disappointment at the present time, Rev. Soper still anticipates the trip at a future date.

Whole Lot of Thrills In 'The Third Alarm'

"The Third Alarm," now showing at the Glendale Theatre, abounds in real thrills, thrills that tingle the blood and make the heart beat fast.

Take, for instance, the great fire scenes. Many fires have been filmed before. There is nothing particularly novel about the idea of portraying fire on the screen. And yet the fire scenes in "The Third Alarm" grip audiences all over the country as nothing has done in years.

Why? Because of the startlingly powerful and original method the director, Emory Johnson, has employed in developing these scenes.

And don't forget that Glendale's own fire ladders are featured in the big, colorful prologue that precedes the picture.

Visiting Realtors to Be Luncheon Guests

The visit of the leading realtors of Tijuana, La Crescenta, La Canada, and Montrose to Glendale as the guests of the Glendale Realty Board tomorrow is to be signified by a get-together luncheon and barbecue at City Park, when Frazier O. Reed, president, and Glenn D. Willman, secretary of the California Real Estate Association, will be on hand to address the assembled realtors. Many matters of importance to members of the real estate profession will be discussed at the luncheon, with special reference to the development of Glendale and the other towns in the San Fernando valley.

Do your shopping in Glendale.

COMMENT That's All

Glendale Building Goal
North Is Showing Life
Splitting Up Big Holdings
Golf Good At Any Age
—By Gil A. Cowan—

THREE MILLION DOLLARS' worth of building in the first three months of 1923 is the goal for Glendale. Only $900,000 more need be written into the records. All of you who have civic pride—and the exceptions are mighty few—should do your share toward attaining that total in the next thirty days. And when the world hears of the achievement it is going to admit that Glendale is a go-getter.

Along the line of building may it not be earnestly suggested that every effort be put forth toward obtaining a hotel. That is the most needed improvement, other than sewage disposal, in our fastest growing city.

San Francisco is aiming to do $100,000,000 construction work this year. Here's hoping they do for prosperity around the bay district will make conditions better for the state at large.

San Francisco needs more housing facilities for it, too, is growing. Some of its back country is as beautiful as anything in the world and development like that seen in southern California will make it equally as populous.

The bay district is entering a new era, in my belief, which will redound greatly to its benefit. They have watched Los Angeles grow and seen southern California come to the front on nothing more or less than civic spirit.

And they have profited by that lesson to a point where civic spirit is more noticeable. All of which is good because two centers working toward a common purpose of building up the back country of California will do a better job than one solar plexus.

Great land holdings in the state are being divided. The greater counties, too, will be split. More virgin land is to be opened and as time goes on this wonderful land of ours will be the most beautiful and fruitful of the earth. California as yet is but scratched. By 1950 its development really will have begun.

In my travels over the Bear state the great tracts of isolated land impress me more and more. For instance, the Miller & Lux holdings extend for miles and miles and miles. W. R. Hearst, of newspaper fame, owns more than 20,000 acres along the coast between San Luis Obispo and Monterey that are wilderness. Bison, lions, deer roam at large in the mountain fastnesses as yet unseen because of lack of highways into the country.

Look at your map of California and compare it with the census statistics and see how much of it there is yet to be brought under cultivation. Take a road map and see how little of it is accessible. Really, it is magnificent in potentialities.

Glendale people should take more interest in the development of athletics. While the Griffith Park course is open to the public, it would be well for this city to have its own golf links. Also, it should have a local baseball league composed of organizations which would meet each week and in friendly contests.

Once upon a time the town had a soccer team that used to play in the north end of town. A revival of this organization might be well. The Legion has just completed a successful season of basketball. May it be followed by baseball.

Keep the people interested in Glendale. They will not want to wander from home then. A golf enthusiast, active in the formation of the Oakmont Country Club, hands me the following:

Baseball is a game for young blood, so far as active participation is concerned. After a man reaches 21 or 22 years of age, unless he becomes a professional or semi-professional, he prefers to take his baseball from the store. Tennis, too, is too strenuous for the average person after passing 35 years of age. Likewise, football and soccer are for young blood.

But golf is a game that can be played at any age from 9, or even younger, to 90, or even older. Golf provides a health-giving recreation for the lover of outdoors after other and more violent exercises have become too strenuous for him.

But golf isn't only a game for the old. The young, too, enjoy it. Gene Sarazen, for instance, the American champion, is scarcely more than 21 years of age. He has played golf since he was a mere lad, and the game has given him great enjoyment as well as great fame in the world of sports.

'Human Fly' Plunges to Death in N. Y. Street

NEW YORK, March 6.—While acting before a movie camera in climbing from one story to another up the side of one of New York's highest buildings, "Human Fly" Young lost his balance and hurtled hundreds of feet to the street below, and to his death. Hundreds of pedestrians stood awe-stricken as the movie dare-devil came plunging downward. His body, after hitting the street below, bounded at least three feet, and the dull thud of the body caused many of the spectators to scream.

The man's wife saw him dashed to death. She and Young had had luncheon together in a hotel just before the fatal climb was commenced. Mrs. Young fainted and was rushed to a hospital, where her condition was reported to be very critical.

ATTRACTIONS FOR BIG EXPOSITION

Animal Show and Hick's Georgia Minstrels Will Exhibit Daily

Among the added attractions that have been signed up for the Merchants' Industrial Exposition that is to be held here from May 25 to June 3 are Madame Olga's big animal show, rated by expert showmen as one of the feature acts in the circus world today, and Hick's Georgia Minstrels, which will show here daily during the exposition. Other acts will be signed up within a few days, but Harry L. Leavitt, director general, is making his selections carefully in order to give Glendale the best possible entertainment possible.

In order to house the exposition, Mr. Leavitt has secured the largest tent that has ever been erected on any lot in the United States, according to Joe Geisler, who has seen them all.

Plenty of Room

The tent will be erected with sixteen center poles and will cover an area of 750 feet long by 150 feet wide, and Mr. Geisler promises on his word of honor that the spectators will be allowed to enjoy the exposition without having a gang of circus rascals start taking the seats down before the show is much more than half over, as happens so frequently when a circus is showing, especially in the smaller towns where the show has to make a quick jump to the next stop.

Admission books that contain ten admission tickets have been placed on sale at $1 each, and the attached coupons give the owner of the book a chance to win the automobile that is to be given away to the lucky holder on the last night of the exposition.

Queen Contest

Two more entrants have listed their names in the Queen of the Pageant contest, Miss Carrie Summers and Miss Gertrude Sprague, and the rivalry between the five candidates is growing keener daily, with whispers of several dark horses being entered by the neighboring towns who will come in with a handful of votes right at the start that will be liable to jolt some of the other contestants.

Glendale merchants, Mr. Leavitt declares, are signing up for space in the exposition in a manner that augurs well for the successful carrying out of the exposition, and the variety of exhibits that are already being arranged will show the visitors to the exposition the immense scope covered by Glendale industries.

ICE CREAM MADE HERE IS POPULAR

Five Trucks to Be Used in Delivering Product This Summer

"Glendale Ice Cream—It's the Best." Such is the inscription in large black letters upon the bright yellow body of the new delivery truck of the Glendale Ice Cream Company.

According to Edmund Herring, who is quite proud of the plant at 108 North Glendale avenue, and its products, this statement is not exaggeration.

To give extra sudden service this summer, this company's delivery trucks have now been increased to four and another one is now in shipment from the factory. The two latest additions to the group are two ton G. M. C. refrigerated trucks which have ice holding compartments capable of holding 3300 pounds of cracked ice and separate compartments which have a capacity of 2500 gallons of ice cream in one load. These trucks can be operated for about twenty-four hours without re-icing. They will enable this company to extend its business to a considerable distance from Glendale.

Business Grows

The quality of the products of the Glendale Ice Cream Company is its greatest business-getter according to Mr. Herring who remarked that the business last month was 120 per cent bigger than last February and that the business month before last was 110 per cent bigger than last January. He is well satisfied with the expansion of business during this company's sixteen months.

Freezers of this company now have a capacity of about 100 gallons of ice cream every hour. They may be operated continuously and while one batch of ice cream is being poured out another batch of pure milk and cream and flavoring materials is being poured in. The Glendale Ice Cream Company is now supplying most of the drug store fountains of this city and is advertising its community through its products in Pasadena, Los Angeles and other surrounding communities.

Plan $100,000 Fund To Decorate Graves

INDIANAPOLIS, March 6.—An endowment of $100,000 will be raised by the American Legion for permanent annual decoration of the graves of all world war dead in Europe, before next Memorial day, it was announced by national headquarters here. The fund, with a like sum available from private contributions, will suffice, it was said, beyond the lives of legion men who contributed.

White Leghorn Enters Egg Laying Contest

Another feathery darling is on the "large egg" honor list of the pampered hen-house pets. Mrs. Plain Ordinary White Leghorn, belonging to Mrs. I. A. Ford, of 215 North Adams street, ten months old and full bearing, yesterday brought forth an edible cobblestone sized 6 1-2 by 7 3-4 inches. This compares very favorably with the prize egg to date—a 6 1-2 by 8 1-4 inch beauty contributed by Mrs. Rhode Island Red to the commissary department of her lord and master, Leslie Tronier, of 350 West Maple street.

Commission Will Hear Plans for Short Lines

SAN FRANCISCO, March 6.—Evidence will be received by the interstate commerce commission respecting the disposition of California's short line railroads at the hearings to be conducted in California by the federal commission on the proposed consolidation of railroads of the United States into a limited number of systems. A telegram conveying this information was received by the railroad commission from B. H. Meyer, chairman of the interstate commerce commission, in reply to the query of the railroad commission telegraphed to the interstate commerce commission following a conference of the railroad commission with representatives of interested persons and organizations.

Greater Preference to Service Men, Order

WASHINGTON, March 6.—One of President Harding's final acts before entraining for Florida was the issuance of instructions to the civil service commission to extend greater preference to former service men in filling government jobs. The president told the commission to set aside age limits and many physical requirements in the cases of ex-service men, and to allow them five points in addition to their earned ratings in civil service examinations. Those who suffered serious disability are to be given ten points extra. News want ads produce results. Plans on the railroad re-grouping here last week.

TODAY—Is respect for Royalty on the decline in England? David M. Church, London correspondent, raises the question in today's news letter.

TOMORROW—Ellis H. Martin, San Francisco, writes of the growing efficacy of prohibition enforcement in California, of the fleeting fame of James J. Jeffries, and of the Mark Twain celebration now being planned.

By DAVID M. CHURCH
For International News Service

LONDON, March 6. — Either the English people are getting "clubby" with Royalty or their respect for Royalty is on the decline.

Since the Duke of York announced his engagement there has been a noticeable laxity in the dignity which is attached to the romance, particularly by the press.

When the newspapers began calling the Duke "Prince Bertie" there were many who thought it was going a bit far, but now they are even lampooning the nickname. Even Time and Tide, a magazine for women, which is largely owned by Lady Rhonda, "kicks" the Duke. After the Duke and his fiancée went down to Sandringham to consult the Royal family concerning the wedding date and it had been announced that the marriage would probably take place in April, Time and Tide published the following verse for Prince Bertie:

"Shall I be married in April,
Father-dear?
Oh, how I wish that April
Was on my here!
Feb. is so short, but it seems so long!
March is a month that goes too strong!
"How can I wait for April
To claim my dear?"

That seems to be "laying it on a bit thick," as they say in England, and no one could blame the Duke if he rose in his wrath and registered a loud protest.

Perhaps this indicates a change in the psychology of the British mind—a mind which has always had great respect for anything royal.

Then there have been whisperings that someone might make a move in Parliament to reduce the Duke's allowance. It is written down in the plainest English in the civil list that the Duke shall receive an allowance of 10,000 pounds annually while single, and an allowance of 25,000 pounds if he marries. Someone has suggested that $125,000 a year is too much for a Duke to be given to live on, when there is so much unemployment and distress throughout the country. Perhaps it is, but the financial responsibilities of the Duke are heavy. He will be required to maintain not only a wife, but at least a town house and a country house, a fleet of motor cars, a stable and perhaps a yacht. He will have to entertain lavishly, and above all this he must maintain his charitable contributions, which, it is said, amount to nearly half of the amount which he receives annually from the government. It seems certain that the Duke won't be able to lay very much away for a rainy day even at $125,000 a year. But all of this muttering about cutting his wages is only whispering and there is little likelihood of anything coming of it.

Lady Elizabeth, the Duke's fiancée, is said to have had her first Royal advice. It is understood that it was just this: "Don't give interviews." Lady Betty was interviewed right and left when her engagement was first announced. The gossip says that this was displeasing to high personage in court circles, and the diminutive and bubbling little lady was given a few direct instructions about her responsibilities as a Royal fiancée and was cautioned against being led astray by the wily newspapermen, who were bound to make her talk if she received them.

"Her Royal Highness Lady Elizabeth"—That will probably be the official title of Lady Elizabeth Bowes-Lyon. The King is expected to bestow the title "Her Royal Highness" upon his prospective daughter-in-law.

The wedding will probably be a blue wedding. Lady Elizabeth has a distinct partiality for blue and she has already asked the Duke of York to be married in his Air Force uniform, which is horizon blue.

Set Trial Date for Accused Wife Slayer

SANTA CRUZ, Calif., March 6. —The trial of John R. Masters, real estate man, charged with the murder of his wife, Mrs. Elizabeth Masters, was set for trial Tuesday, March 20, by Judge B. K. Knight before whom Masters appeared and entered a plea of not guilty.

So far Masters has been unable to obtain counsel. Saturday afternoon Knight appointed E. Kramer, as counsel for the accused man but today Kramer appeared in court and told the judge that after investigating the case he found that he would have "no defense" to offer and therefore asked that he be relieved of the appointment.

Judge Knight took the matter under advisement and it is expected new counsel will be appointed within the next 24 hours.

HINTS FOR THE MOTORIST

ALBERT L. CLOUGH

PAINTING ONE'S OWN CAR

Worth Considering By Thrifty Owners Who Are Not Too Fastidious

The following will be of no interest to the "finicky" motorist, who is satisfied only with perfection in car finish, but it may be worth reading by the motorist who is satisfied with car finish which will pass a casual examination creditably, who has a little extra time who is disposed to economize rather closely and who doesn't wish to lose the use of his car for several weeks by taking it to a shop for a "real" painting job. Refinishing an open car, by the application of one of the many available brands of quick drying varnish paint, is a job which can be performed by any intelligent person and, if carefully done, will give it a respectable appearance for a year or more. Unless one has a tightly built garage, from which dust can mostly be excluded and which can be kept warm, good results will hardly be obtainable. First sweep the garage floor thoroughly, jack the car up on all four, remove the hood, front wheels, all lamps, tire carrier, number plates, etc. It does not pay to take off the mud guards, but the rear wheels should be removed, if this can be done readily. With medium sandpaper, smooth off the worst of the roughness of the

Tight Pistons Scratch Cylinder Walls

A. E. B. writes: My car was delivered to me with the pistons or rings too tightly fitted and after 1,500 miles of running, the engine is still stiff, when hot. On removing the cylinder head, I find two of the cylinders scratched appreciably to the sense of touch, although hardly visible. As yet there is no serious blow-by and no oil pumping. I have always "babied" this engine, as I knew it was tight. What had I better do to prevent matters from getting worse?

Answer: The best thing you could do would be to take out the engine and have it limbered up on a running stand, by external power, but this would be quite an expensive job. If it were ours, we should run on gasoline to which one pint of cylinder oil had been added to each five gallons of fuel and should use, instead of ordinary oil, in the crankcase, oil containing defoliated graphite (not common flake graphite). We should keep on "babying" the engine, never allowing it to assume its full load or speed and never permitting it to become fully heated up. By so doing, we believe it will loosen up without further injury.

D. L. writes: My 1919 car has grease cups only for lubricating the springs and steering connections and I am thinking of putting on something that is a little handier. Which of the different methods do you advise?

Answer: Frankly we do not know whether the pressure systems for applying grease or heavy oil are to be preferred or whether some of the oil feeding devices are better. The question is by no means settled, although there seems to be a tendency toward the use of ordinary oil. The fact seems to be that good results are obtainable with both lubricants when effectively fed. Probably the manufacturer of your make of car is equipping his current models with one of the modern chassis lubricating systems and you would not go far wrong in applying this to your car.

Questions of general interest to the motorist will be answered by Mr. Clough in this column, space permitting. If an immediate answer is desired, enclose self-addressed, stamped envelope.

TICKLER OR AUDIO-ULTRAUDION THREE POINT SWITCH

A small three point switch mounted on a unit panel to be used for short circuiting the tickler coil of the tuner, switching from an audion to an ultra-audion circuit, or for any other purpose where a three point switch is necessary. Switch arm of laminated phosphor bronze with its ends turned over to give a clean wiping contact on the three contact points. Mounting to the shaft is dispensed with by making the rear end of the switch arm in the shape of a fork which is turned over to wipe on the bushing in the panel, and thereby obtain a perfect contact. The parts are of brass, nickel plated.

means of transferring or inducing energy into the detector circuit. L. 2, by means of mutual inductance, receives the energy from the antenna circuit and is a fixed inductance coil of a value determined upon the wave lengths it is proposed to work with. It is the detector. Lodge in his experiments used an improved coherer which was used with telephone receivers marked T, which are utilized to make the signals audible. B is a local battery of a couple of volts, which, however, is not always necessary when certain crystals are used for detectors. C is a large fixed condenser. This receiver, in principle, was largely used a few years ago by Kilbourne and Clark, who produced and marketed apparatus designed by Mr. Roy E. Thompson, and known as the "impulse" type of transmitter (previously described), and the "untuned secondary" type of receiver.

While it is not largely used in professional radio practice today, nevertheless, many manufacturers of amateur receivers sold for the purpose of receiving broadcasting

Uncle Wiggily Bedtime Stories

BY HOWARD R. GARIS

UNCLE WIGGILY'S SNOW CREAM

One day Mrs. Littletail, the rabbit lady, came hopping over the snow covered fields to the hollow stump bungalow of Uncle Wiggily.

"Oh, Nurse Jane!" exclaimed Mrs. Littletail, when the muskrat lady housekeeper had opened the door. "I'm in such trouble!"

"Then you have come to just the right place to be cured," laughed Nurse Jane. "Uncle Wiggily is always trying to help those in trouble."

"I'm so glad he is at home," went on Mrs. Littletail. "And I do hope he can help me."

"What is the trouble, my dear Mrs. Littletail?" asked Mr. Longears, as he heard what the rabbit lady said. "Did the Fox or Wolf throw snowballs at you, or were you coming across the fields?"

"No, it isn't that," Mrs. Littletail answered. "But I must go down town shopping at the three and four cent store, and I don't want to leave Sammie and Susie at home alone. There is no one to stay with them and I thought, 'What if I go?'"

"Why, of course, I'll stay with Sammie and Susie! Delighted!" laughed the bunny rabbit gentleman. "We'll have fun together. But why aren't they in school?"

"Sammie and Susie have colds," their mother explained. "So I thought it best to keep them at home. Oh, I'm so glad you can stay with them. Now I can go shopping," and off she hopped to the three and four cent store, and perhaps she may even have gone to the eight and nine cent store, for sometimes Mrs. Littletail had lots of money to spend.

"Oh, Uncle Wiggily! Did you bring us any ice cream?" cried Susie, as soon as she and her brother had let the bunny gentleman in.

"Bring ice cream—when you have colds?" cried Uncle Wiggily. "Why, I wouldn't think of such a thing!"

"But ice cream is good for us—Dr. Possum said so," insisted Sammie. "It makes your throat feel good."

"Hum! Yes! Well, perhaps it does," said Uncle Wiggily. "However, I didn't bring any ice cream but—ah, ha! I have it! How would you like some snow cream?" he asked.

"Is it anything like ice cream?" Sammie wanted to know.

"Almost the same," explained Uncle Wiggily. "Now, if I can find some milk, or cream, some eggs, a bag of sugar and some vanilla for flavoring, I'll be all right."

"You'll find everything like that in our pantry," said Susie. "I'll help you make the snow cream, Uncle Wiggily."

"And I'll help eat it," offered Sammie.

"Yes, trust you for that!" laughed Uncle Wiggily. Then he told the rabbit children how.

"Ah ha!" growled the Fox.

when my mouth is filled with salt?" and out of the bungalow he ran.

Oh, Uncle Wiggily, did you put salt instead of sugar in our snow cream, and is it all spoiled?" asked Susie sadly.

"No," laughed the bunny, "I only put salt in a little of the snow cream that I dished out specially for the Fox. In your snow cream I put sugar. Taste it."

The rabbit children did, finding it most delicious, and they ate it all up—giving Uncle Wiggily some, of course. But the old Fox had to drink water for a week to get the salty taste out of his mouth.

And if the alarm clock doesn't go off by itself and peck its hands at the gold fish, making believe to tickle them, I'll tell you next about Uncle Wiggily and the school bell.

Refuse to Negotiate Till French Quit Ruhr

BERLIN, March 6.—Germany's decision not to conduct any reparations negotiations with France and Belgium, nor to make any payments of any kind during military occupation of the Ruhr was formally put into effect. Answering a communication from the inter-allied reparations commission, the government refused to deliver fertilizer to the French and Belgians, as demanded.

The German government announced that it would refuse to discuss reparations payments with France and Belgium so long as the Ruhr was occupied. However, negotiations are in progress with Italy, as that country did not send any troops to assist the Franco-Belgian forces in their new territorial seizures.

German Postmaster Is Fined and Imprisoned

BONN, Germany, March 6.—Postmaster Schmidt was sentenced to one year's imprisonment and to pay a fine of 100,000 marks for putting up signs in the postoffice reading: "Ruhr contributions accepted here." The French military court which imposed the sentence charged that such signs "endangered the safety of the occupying troops."

Navy Men Will Wear 'Civvies,' Denby Says

WASHINGTON, March 6.—Secretary of the Navy Denby announced that, effective May 15, all officers and enlisted men of the department on duty in Washington would wear civilian clothes.

stations employ this principle for the simple reason that it is easiest to tune, only requiring adjustments in the primary circuit. To people unacquainted with the principles of radio, this appeals, as a few instructions printed by the manufacturer enables a beginner to obtain signals, (more or less intense) with a minimum of adjustment. It is not as good a receiver as two variably adjusted receivers, better known as the "inductively coupled" receiver, as it does not permit such selective tuning as the latter, with the resultant elimination of undesired signals.

Side Talks by Ruth Cameron

THE SALT OFFERER

The guest who accepts our hospitality is disarmed at the door. He cannot criticize, he cannot complain. That is as inalterable as the laws of the Medes and Persians. It is the unvoiced but (presumably) unbroken covenant between the guest and host. The guest who visits and condemns and the man who kisses and tells are in the same class. But—

I know a school teacher. She supports her mother as well as herself, and in order to make her income sufficient she usually works during the summer vacation. Just before school opened last fall she received an invitation to visit an old friend who was in the country with her family.

She Needed Rest

The vision that presented itself to her was alluring. She was tired more so than she had realized. She accepted joyfully and gratefully.

Her hostess greeted her warmly. "The children have to have separate beds, you know," she said, apologetically, "so I'm going to put you in the living room. You won't mind, will you?"

"Of course not," said the teacher, heartily.

But she did. Not because she was fussy, but because the cot was narrow and uncomfortable, and because the children had sprinkled sand on it while frolicking about it. She was a very long time getting to sleep. Then at 5 o'clock in the morning she was awakened by a terrific racket.

But She Didn't Get It

The noise was inexplicable. She discovered later, however, that the baby in its crib was right over her head. The noise was caused by the baby rocking in its crib, an every morning performance which effectually banished sleep. She arose with a headache. At the breakfast table the children forgetting the shyness of the evening before, were in full feather. "I want some bacon," shouted the little boy.

"I want some marmalade," clamored the little girl.

The guest gulped a cup of coffee and retreated conquered by the clamor and confusion. She saw a hammock under the trees and longed to climb into it, but seeing her friend busy with the broom she offered to help. The broom was relinquished into her grasp and she swept the lower floor. Then she shelled peas for lunch.

And She Had to Be Grateful

In the afternoon she told stories to the children at their earnest request while their mother took a nap. After dinner she helped with the dishes because her friend said having company made the cook resentful and she always tried to help as much as possible. Then she went back to the horrible cot again.

There was a sample of her days. There was nothing restful about the week she spent there. Indeed, the clamor and confusion by day, and the broken sleep at night, left her more tired than when she started. But she was a guest. She could neither question nor condemn.

The incident may seem exaggerated to some people. To others it will, perhaps, seem toned down. That depends.

But, while we are talking, as we so often do, of the obligations the guest owes to the host, let's not forget to say something about the obligations of the host to the guest.

Diet and Health

By Lulu Hunt Peters, M.D.

IMPORTANCE OF WEIGHT CONTROL DURING PREGNANCY

I have been teaching you that weekly gain during the second and third trimesters of pregnancy is even more important during pregnancy than at other times to curb excess gaining and to reduce if overweight. I am glad to give you excerpts from a letter taken from the January 27 issue of the American Medical Association Journal. It is written by an obstetrician, Dr. C. Henry Davis of Milwaukee.

"Urinalysis was for many years the only routine test employed during pregnancy. Within the last decade, the value of blood pressure readings, previously rarely used as a special test, has been generally recognized. Both of these tests give valuable data, but I have found that the information gained from the routine recording of weight greatly enhances their clinical value, and I urge the addition of this third test in all prenatal work.

"Since the average loss of weight following delivery is between 15 and 20 pounds, it is obvious that, if a woman has normal weight before pregnancy, her total gain should not exceed 20 pounds. If previously underweight, she may be allowed a somewhat greater gain, possibly as much as 30 pounds. There is evidence that an excessive gain is dangerous. The woman who is fat should be kept on a carefully limited diet and she may actually reduce to the benefit of herself and the growing fetus.

"Pregnancy is usually characterized by a stimulated metabolism and improved health. Some women show improved metabolism from the first weeks, but others, owing to nausea and vomiting, lose weight during the first three months. It is important to know the amount of this loss. An excessive loss is dangerous and by careful handling can usually be prevented. Naturally, the woman who has lost considerable weight during the first trimester may be permitted a greater average weight gain during the second and third trimesters. I have several times noted that during the week or two weeks before the appearance of albumin, increase of blood pressure or gross evidence of edema, there has been an abnormal increase in weight.

"As a result of observation that albumin and an increased blood pressure usually follow gains in a pregnant woman's weight, elimination of diet is now ordered as soon as the sudden increase in weight and the rising blood pressure and urinalysis tests.

"There are many logical reasons, as well as clinical evidence, to back the plea for the consideration of weight in conjunction with blood pressure test and the urinalysis as a routine measure during pregnancy."

We have an article on Diet in Pregnancy and Nursing which those of you who are interested may have by sending a self-addressed stamped envelope to me in care of this paper.

BEAUTY CHATS

ANSWERED LETTERS

Jane H.: You can massage this extra weight from the hips, or take special exercises for all the muscles of the abdomen and back. The rotary exercises, where you bend at the waist and then describe a circle to the right and then to the left, will bring all the muscles of the hips into action.

Another set of exercises are those where you bend at the waist and touch the floor with the fingers without breaking at the knees.

With auburn hair, grey eyes and fair skin, your best choice in colors will be green, all shades of brown, cream and rose color.

George M.: A skin that persists in being sallow, even though you are bleaching it, shows that the liver or the organs of elimination are at fault. You can do much to improve this condition by a proper choice of foods, or have the doctor prescribe for you Grape fruit or oranges at your breakfast, spinach or any other green vegetables with your dinner will help much. When bleaching the skin with lemon oil that is needed is a rub the juice into the pores and let it remain for a time. Remove with warm water and massage into the skin either a fine oil or a cream, as the skin has been temporarily deprived of the natural secretions and will be left irritated unless treated in this way.

The cucumber bleach that you mention contains all the ingredients needed for both bleaching and soothing the skin. I will be glad to mail my formula for it if you wish. If you do send a s. a. e. along with your request.

YOUTH: Your skin will continue to improve, as you have now learned just what agrees with it. Never use any soap on it unless it is one made from vegetable oils, such as the old fashioned castile or some other olive oil soap. Almond meal may be purchased at any drug store or the large grocery houses. Always close the pores after cleansing the skin. This may be effected by dashes of very cold water, ice rubs or a mild astringent.

R. L. G.: There is no space to repeat the cream formula, but I shall be glad to mail it to you if you so desire and include a s. a. e. with your request.

Dorothy W.: The stray hairs that grow out of alignment with the brows are best extracted by using a blunt end tweezers. This may mean that you will have to repeat the task every few weeks, but it is more advisable than having the electric needle used so close to the eye.

M. E. M.: Your scalp is in a very unhealthy condition if it becomes all scaled with dandruff a few days after it is removed. I will be glad to mail you my formula for an excellent tonic for scalp, with directions for treating a condition such as yours, but it would take too much space to print it. If you wish this information include a s. a. e.

Book Reviews

Added interest in the literary possibilities at the Glendale branch library is seen in the announcement of new books made by Charles H. Cushing, librarian.

There are: "A Pilgrimage With a Milliner's Needle," by Anna Walthers, a Danish girl with no resources but the proceeds from the work of her hands. She was filled with great wanderlust and started out to see the world, depending on her own efforts as she goes.

"Courage," the rhetorical address delivered at St. Andrew's university in 1922 by J. M. Barrie; "A Parody Outline of History," by O. Stewart; "What I Saw in America," by Chesterton, an Englishman's impression of our country; "Lincoln," by N. W. Stephenson; "The Lake of the Sky," a vivid description of Lake Tahoe by George Wharton James.

Books of travel are "Three Asces in Bolivia," by Portman; "Rise of the New West," by Turner; "American Indian Life," by Parsons.

Other books are "Single Tax," "Income Tax," "Merchant Marine," "Municipal Ownership," "Unemployment," "Free Trade and Protection," "Child Labor," "Immigration" and "Direct Primaries."

"The Book of the Sky," by Luckiesh, an interesting study in clouds and weather; "Being Respectable," by Grace Flandrau; "The Lost Mr. Lintwaite," by Fletcher; "The Step on the Stairs," by Catherine Green; "Nicolette," by Baroness Orczy; "The Pointed Tower," by Vance Thompson; "The Broken Stowage," by Jones.

The real home atmosphere of any city is reflected in its public library and Glendale, the fastest growing city in the United States, has a library that is a credit to the city and a source of book pleasure and culture to Glendaleans and visitors.

At the library one finds a peaceful, attractive retreat from the hurry of every-day affairs, where he may either sit down for a few minutes' rest with book or magazine, or can find books or magazines for the reading hour at home.

One of the delights of the library is the new book table, where one can find a collection of the new additions to the library books. They are not ready for circulation but are placed on the table to give patrons the opportunity to catch a glimpse of what is in store for them. Just a hurried reading of the titles is full of interest for the book lover. But one can take more than a hurried glance at the titles for there are two chairs by the table, where one may sit for a few minutes to glance through the book or books of his fancy.

On this new book table this week are:

"A Message to Garcia," by Elbert Hubbard, an old and well-known tale, but this volume is a brand new one, done attractively in Roycroft style.

For the religious book lovers there are "Human Nature in the Bible," by William Lyon Phelps; "In His Steps Today," by Charles M. Sheldon, about "What Would Jesus Do in Solving the Problems of the Hour?" 22,000,000 copies have been sold; "The Home Beautiful," by J. R. Miller, D. D.

"Wild Lakeland," painting by A. Heaton Cooper and description by MacKenzie MacBride; "Antique Furniture," by F. W. Burgess with 126 illustrations.

"Morals and the Evolution of Man," by Max Nordau, an examination of the whole question of morality, when it comes and what its sanctions are.

Southern Sliced Ham—Order from your butcher one and one-half pounds of sliced ham, one inch thick. About two hours before dinner, fry the ham-slice in bacon fat, on both sides, then put it into a medium-size baking dish or casserole. Cover it with three cups of sliced, par-boiled potatoes (that is, pared white potatoes which you have boiled for 15 minutes in water to cover, then drained and sliced) and season with a sprinkling of salt and a pinch of pepper (the amount of salt depends upon the saltiness of the ham). Arrange one-half cup of finely chopped American cheese (or grated Parmesan cheese if you have it) over the potatoes, and add, last, a layer of dry breadcrumbs. Dot top with bits of butter and pour down one side one pint of sweet milk. Slip into a moderate oven to bake for one and one-half hours. Serve hot.

Butter Cakes—Sift together two and three-fourths cups of bread flour and one heaping teaspoon of baking soda. Put this dry mixture into a bowl and stir into it one-half cup of sour milk mixed with the yolk of one egg and one tablespoon of melted butter. Stir well, until the liquid is all taken up, then add one more cup of sour milk. Turn out onto a floured board and knead for five minutes steadily. Then pat out into a sheet three-quarters of an inch thick and cut with a biscuit cutter which measures about two inches in diameter. Set aside in a cool place for two hours (or less) and fry slowly on a griddle greased with bacon fat. Split while hot and spread with butter.

Spanish Omelet—This differs from an ordinary omelet only in the fact that before it is taken from the pan a thin layer of picadillo is spread between the lower half and the upper, turned-over half. (Canned tomato may be chopped green peppers may be used as the filling, if desired.)

Italian Baked Fish—Boil one-half pound of vermicelli in salted water, until tender, then drain, mix it with one tablespoon of olive oil, and set aside to cool. Now put into your frying pan five split smelts with bones removed (or any small pan fish) and fry till slightly brown in olive oil. Next, butter a baking dish, sprinkle the bottom with breadcrumbs, put in one-half the cold vermicelli, add one-half cup of tomato paste (tomato catsup may be substituted, or canned tomato thickened with cornstarch and highly seasoned), then add the smelts to the dish. Sprinkle the fish with six chopped olives (if you have them on hand—otherwise omit) add a few more spoonfuls of the tomato paste or sauce, add the other half of the cooked vermicelli, top with a layer of crumbs, and cook for one hour in a moderate oven, adding a little olive oil if it becomes too dry.

MOLLA BEATEN IN MENTONE TOURNAY

Loses Chance to Battle Against Mlle. Lenglen; Miss Ryan Wins

MENTONE, March 6.—Mrs. Molla Mallory, American tennis champion, lost her chance to meet Mlle. Lenglen, the champion of France, when she was eliminated in the local tournament today by Mrs. C. Le. Mrs. Mallory lost in two straight sets by a score of 6-0 and 7-5.

Miss Elizabeth Ryan of California successfully passed the first round of the local tennis tournament today by defeating Miss Redlich, 7-5 and 6-4.

By HARRY FLOREY
For International News Service

MONTE CARLO, March 6.—Mrs. Molla Mallory, American tennis champion, today conceded victory to her arch-rival, Mlle. Suzanne Lenglen, world's champion, in the projected meeting between the famous women of the courts on Thursday.

In an exclusive interview Mrs. Mallory declared she realized she was not in condition to beat Suzanne at this time.

"I know I can't beat her at this time," the American said. "I only wish I could. I will have to have more practice first."

Mrs. Mallory has just recovered from a severe illness, contracted before she left America some weeks ago. Her play on the Riviera courts to date has not been up to her standard. She has suffered several defeats, not only in doubles, but in the singles as well. Her match with Mlle. Lenglen on Thursday will be the first since the French girl beat her in the all-comers singles at Wimbledon last summer.

Hard Courts Bother
Mrs. Mallory said she expected to make a better showing at Mentone than she did at Monte Carlo because she believed the courts better there. The brilliant sun did not bother her here, she said, but she is not accustomed to the two courts. She is confident of winning her second and third matches and then meeting Mlle. Lenglen.

The American made it plain to the writer that her sporting instincts would not permit her to even consider "laying down" in those rounds so that she might escape a humiliating defeat by the French Champion. Without hesitation, Mrs. Mallory admitted that the Monte Carlo life is too attractive to allow her to play her best tennis.

"If I could get to bed early, my tennis would be better," she said. "But there are too many interesting things to do."

Mat Artist Challenges Hackenschmidt to Bout

"Butch" Metzetti, of 5341 Melrose avenue, Hollywood, journeyed to Glendale yesterday afternoon to lay before the Glendale Evening News a plea for a return wrestling match with John Hackenschmidt, whom he met here on Armistice day, 1921.

On that occasion Metzetti lost two successive falls, but he attributes this defeat to poor physical form at the time, together with a dislocated shoulder received in the first set-to of the match.

He claims that he is now in greatly improved form—and to back up his belief that he can outclass Hackenschmidt, he says, he will deposit $500 any time a match can be arranged.

51 strikes, 9 spares, no splits, no errors.
Counting extra strikes in 10th frame, 61 strikes.

We agree with you that's a big order. Fact is, men that record has stood since 1910. Johns made it in the Greater New York Individual Championship Series held at the Oxford Bowling Academy in Newark, N. J., against Jimmie Watt.

Lee Johns jumped into bowling fame away back in 1901 when, as a member of a Philadelphia club, he began to take the measure of some of the best pin knockers in the Brothly City. A few years later he blossomed forth as the proprietor of a bowling emporium of his own at Newark and in the years that followed Lee developed into one of the greatest alley hounds in the East. He helped organize the Eastern Bowling League, comprising teams from Baltimore, Wilmington, Trenton, Brooklyn, Philadelphia, Newark, New York and Patterson.

Johns has retired from active competition but he still curves a wicked mahogany down the alley and it begins to look like that record of his will along unbroken for many moons to come.

Probe Report of Doped Pills in L. A. Schools
LOS ANGELES, March 6.—Secret "tips" that a few girls and boys attending two Los Angeles high schools are being supplied with doped pills, said to contain cocaine, forced the basis of a determined investigation by United States Attorney Joe Burks and federal narcotics agents.

Information was given to the authorities, it was learned, that the pills are of Japanese origin. They were said to have been advertised under a trade mark name.

The first "tip" to the officers came in the form of an anonymous communication, which stated a small clique of pupils was dallying with narcotics which "numbed their tongues, at the same time operating as a joyous stimulant to their study-weary eyes and brains."

The letter, mailed to Attorney Burke, contained the name and address of the father of one boy. Mr. Burke, after conferring with the father, as to his knowledge of his son's school mates and other associates.

Driving up in a touring car, the two bandits leaped from the machine, one of them threatening Mr. and Mrs. O'Brien with a revolver as he ordered them to throw up their hands, according to the police.

Mr. and Mrs. O'Brien each tackled one of the bandits, the police reported. The unarmed bandit quickly fled. Mr. O'Brien wrenched the revolver from the other robber and attempted to stop him, but the revolver jammed.

The WORLD OVER
By FRANKLIN B. MORSE

In endeavoring to analyze the reasons for the comparatively short time that a heavyweight boxing champion is able to retain his title, there is an exhibit of startling figures to be had from the records in connection with the number of battles fought before the title was gained and the sudden cessation of all active boxing after its achievement.

It is said that practice makes perfect, but it is constant practice that holds on to a success gained. Under the circumstances, there are few who will dispute the fact that one of the greatest contributions to the fall of a champion is his lack of keeping his hand in the game. With the accession of easy money comes the temptation to an easy and indifferent mode of living. This means staying out of the ring because of the drudgery necessary before one can enter it in fit condition.

This absence makes for the loss of "distance" which the eye achieves only through constant practice. It makes for the loss of wind, and other physical departments of well being that are essential to a continued success in the ring. One cannot drop an activity indulged for a long space of time without loss of efficiency.

Let us take the records of the last of the heavyweight champions to demonstrate. These men are Jack Johnson, Jess Willard and Jack Dempsey. Johnson held the title five years. During the five years immediately prior to winning it he engaged in 38 battles. In the five years after he fought exactly four times.

Jess Willard was champion for four years. In the four years immediately preceding the winning of it, he fought 30 times. In the four years after winning, he entered the ring four times.

Dempsey has held the title nearly three years. In the three years preceding the winning of it, he fought 30 times. In the four years after winning, he entered the ring four times.

Dempsey has held the title nearly three years. In the three years preceding his defeat of Willard, he had fought 43 times. Since then he has fought just three times. Here is the summary:

	Held Fgts.	Fgts. title prior after
Johnson	5 yrs. 38 4
Willard	4 yrs. 30 4
Dempsey	3 yrs. 43 3

It must be remembered that the fights given before the winning of the championship are included only in the same number of years as intervened before the title was lost, thus showing the numbers of fights engaged in over equal periods of time, before and after winning the title.

row at the public library to celebrate the circle's birthday.

The circle meets regularly on Wednesdays from 11 until 2

All members of the circle are urged to attend and take part in

EASTERN STYLES SHOW NEW IDEAS

Mrs. Pendroy Tells Dictates Of Fashion's Decrees Seen in Gotham

Glendale women always await with interest the return of Mrs. E. C. Pendroy from her seasonal shopping tours to New York city and her return from her recent spring and summer eastern buying trip has long been anticipated.

Mrs. Pendroy arrived in Glendale last Friday after a trip of almost four weeks' duration. She left Glendale February 4, going direct to New York city, where she purchased extensively for the Pendroy store in the ready-to-wear, millinery and children's lines.

"As for business conditions," says Mrs. Pendroy, "I found them most promising. Conditions are settled, predicting wonderful things for the future. Of course there are strikes, but we will always have strikes. Just before I left for the west there was a dress strike, which may mean some delay in the delivery of dress shipments."

At the silk exposition one saw the whole process of silk weaving, traced from the primitive to the present. There were replicas of the old hand looms of Japan and China and then a display depicting the development of the most modern machinery for carrying on the three processes of reeling, spinning and weaving. It was the story of the silk from the cocoon to the finished material, and, according to Mrs. Pendroy, the demonstrations and displays were wonderful as to beauty and educational value.

At the 1923 millinery style show at the Astor there were hats and gowns of gorgeous materials and design. As for hats, Mrs. Pendroy says, "Laces and veils are to come into their own during the spring and summer."

"There were felt hats decorated with bright colors; sport straw hats, and sailor hats, but to be really smart the sailor must be worn with a fetching veil. Some hats are entirely trimmed with lace. The large hats are in vogue for summer and promise to be very popular."

"Egyptian influence dominates the color scheme."

"In the ready-to-wear line the three-piece suits are highly in favor. Women have found out that a blouse attached to the suit skirt is very practical. Many of these blouses are attractive for afternoon wear.

"Wraps and gowns are also good. The capes are still in the majority. They are of the wool materials of last fall and also in silks. The fringe effects are passing, giving place to more panel effects, trimmed with furs. Monkey fur is very popular."

"The Russian and Egyptian influences are also seen in the dresses in crepe, Canton crepe and georgette."

"Costume jewelry is also being featured. The well dressed woman wears much jewelry of this type. The earrings are long, very long, some of them being six inches in length."

SPRING STYLES Just Arrived

An Invitation From Glendale's Exclusive Shoe Stores

To All Loyal Glendalians to Visit Our Shoe Houses—See our new spring styles, compare the values offered with those of the city, and then, after you are fully convinced, buy your Spring and Easter footwear from us.

The shoe markets of the continent have been scoured by us to the end that all the latest and best models for the 1923 season could be authentically submitted for your approval.

Tough As Leather Can Make Them

Sheet-iron might last longer, but up to this moment, the sturdiest school shoes made for boys have stuck to leather; and are for sale by the undersigned stores. Those battle scarred winter shoes deserve to be relieved before Easter.

Are We Going Back to Sandals?

Some of the new footwear would seem to indicate such a trend. For cut-out effects—introduced last year—are to be this year's rage for women. In the complete display of footwear presented by these stores, it has not been forgotten that when it comes to pumps for women, the one bright and shining affair is Brocade Satin, with emphasis upon the satin and not the brocade.

Lasting Leather in Oxfords For Men

Son's demand for snap, and Father's conservative requirements are both taken care of in the display of oxfords made by these stores for spring and early summer wear. Sturdy grains on English lines for the former and black or brown calf skin ties for the latter. Every pair you stand in we stand behind of—guaranteeing over our signatures in this advertisement that every pair is leather where leather should be.
